CENTRAL SWITZERLAND

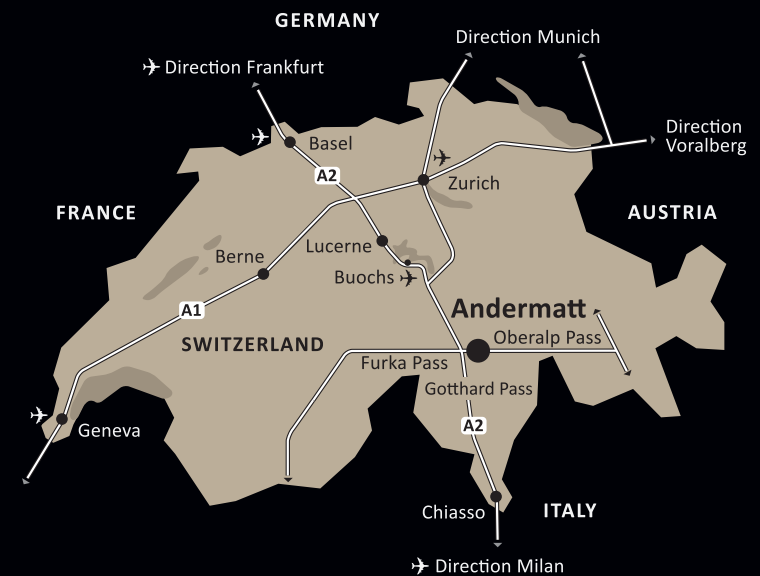

ANDERMATT

Relaxation starts on the journey to Andermatt.

Andermatt's central location means it has excellent connections to the major national and international transport routes. The airports of Zurich, Basel and Milan provide easy access to scheduled flight services and there is also an airfield for private aircraft in Buochs, only 45 minutes from Andermatt.

By road the village can be reached from Stuttgart or Munich in four hours, from Milan in two hours, and from Zurich in just 90 minutes.

ANDERMATT SWISS ALPS

A traditional Swiss holiday village with the finest facilities.

The Andermatt Swiss Alps development is creating one of the best year round destinations in Switzerland.

The new accommodation and sports facilities mean that whether you seek adrenalin or relaxation your needs are catered for in the most spectacular surroundings.

The highly integrated infrastructure and state of the art facilities will make the village the perfect location for cultural events and congresses. There will be six new 4 and 5 star hotels with about 850 hotel rooms and condominiums. Furthermore 500 spacious apartments in 42 houses and 25 bespoke chalets are available to you as your future residence.

Every building in the new resort has been individually designed by one out of over 30 selected Swiss and international architects to create a beautiful and eclectic appearance for the resort. To maintain a perfectly harmonious and peaceful environment the resort will be a car free zone and underground parking spaces are provided for visitors and residents.

THE CHEDI

ANDERMATT, SWITZERLAND

Built in the heart of traditional Andermatt, The Chedi Andermatt offers the finest holiday experience.

The Chedi Andermatt is a perfectly balanced development with varied property opportunities and outstanding modern facilities. The property portfolio includes condominiums, elegant apartments and the latest bespoke penthouses.

All are impeccably presented and combine the traditionally alpine with contemporary design.

With the opening of The Chedi Andermatt in December 2013, the GHM group, established in 1992, did set a new standard in design and hospitality in Switzerland. Jean-Michel Gathy, Chief designer and advisor for Denniston International Architects & Planners Ltd., from Kuala Lumpur, was responsible for the signature style of the hotel, which carefully balances tradition with nature. Alpine chic meets Asian nuances throughout the 5-star deluxe hotel.

In all the appointed rooms and suites Gathy achieved this cohesion by using local elements with a keen attention to detail - large fireplaces, wood panelling, and terraces allowing the indoor and outdoor spaces to blend seamlessly together.

The hotel includes two restaurants, luxurious lounges and bars as well as a state of the art fitness centre and an exclusive spa area of 2'400 square meters. In addition to a 35 metre indoor pool and 10 metre outdoor pool, it features a variety of smaller pools, a Finnish sauna and hammam and ten spa suites offering treatments using natural products.

FACILITIES

The Chedi Andermatt offers outstanding personalised facilities and services for the discerning guests and residence owners.

The hotel is featuring two main dining facilities: The signature outlet, The Restaurant, showcases four open kitchens specializing in cold cuts, desserts, Western and Asian cuisine. Here the chefs are visible to guests while they work on their creations.

One of the only resorts in the Swiss Alps to feature Japanese cuisine, The Japanese by Hide Yamamoto is serving authentic Japanese delicacies prepared at a tempura and sushi bar. A selection of special Japanese sake and beer are available.

The Wine & Cigar Library invites guests to enjoy views of The Courtyard in this walk-in humidor, which also offers some of the finest wines by the glass. In the winter months a cosy fire is lit, creating the perfect alpine setting.

The Lobby is the place to see and be seen, surrounded by The Bar, The Spa and The Pool Area. There are two fireplaces creating a warm atmosphere in this central space. A light menu of small dishes can be served here, in addition to the hotel's variant of Afternoon Tea - The Chedi Afternoon Tea.

After a full day on the slopes or the golf course guests can meet and relax at The Bar and Living Room. Here the Ski Butler's can make guests' arrangements for the next day on the slopes, and tee-offs can be organised for golfers. Small dishes of local snacks are served here, alongside a selection of wine and beer.

The Courtyard is the perfect place to unwind in the winter and summer months alike. Featuring a terrace and large pond, guests are treated to a breath-taking view of the Gemsstock Mountain. A small bar serves refreshing drinks in warm weather, and mulled wine in the chilly months.

The Pool Area offers guests not only a 35-metre indoor pool, but also an outdoor swimming pool, complete with bath towels, sun creams, beauty products, magazines and newspapers, and light refreshments.

SPA HYDROTHERMAL FACILITIES

WINTER & SUMMER ACTIVITIES

The incomparable experience of a Swiss Alpine destination awaits you in Andermatt.

In winter, the region is guaranteed snow and is popular for all types of winter sports. Ambitious skiers will find their dream area on the Gemsstock at almost 3,000 metres above sea level, while the sunny slopes of the Nätschen are attractive for families and pleasure skiers. The Andermatt ski facilities are being modernised and linked with the neighbouring ski area of Sedrun to form the new SkiArena Andermatt-Sedrun. It will be the largest and most attractive ski resort in central Switzerland with more than 120 kilometres of slopes.

In the summer, the region is the perfect location for hiking, climbing and mountain biking surrounded by breathtaking mountain scenery. Other attractions include riding, fishing, tennis and hang-gliding. An ecologically developed 18-hole par 72 championship golf course with an area of 1.3 million square metres adjoins the village and meets international tournament standards. A further dozen 9- and 18-hole golf courses are located in the surrounding area.

SPECIAL RIGHTS

Market prices for high-quality apartments in the major holiday destinations in the Swiss Alps have risen sharply in recent years.

This above-average price development is due to strong demand, which combined with limited land reserves naturally leads to appreciation.

The purchase of real estate in Switzerland by non-Swiss nationals is severely restricted by law (Lex Koller). Due to a decision by the Swiss Federal Council, Andermatt Swiss Alps is exempt from this law. Whether domiciled in Switzerland or not, international buyers may buy apartments and chalets from Andermatt Swiss Alps without special permits and without limitation and may sell with no minimum holding time.

In addition, all apartments being sold by Andermatt Swiss Alps are exempt from the Swiss Second Home Law, which limits the construction of second homes to 20 percent of the number of residences in a village.

GHM

A STYLE TO REMEMBER

Established in 1992, GHM (General Hotel Management Ltd.) is known for conceptualising, developing and operating an exclusive group of hotels and resorts. With an expansive portfolio and more projects in the pipeline, GHM prides itself in providing guests with an unrivalled lifestyle experience.

Each GHM property is an original. The special relationship between the land and the local culture amongst which each resides enables GHM to provide guests with a genuine, closeup experience of the best each destination has to offer. The signature GHM style is best defined as contemporary interpretations of Asian designs combined with distinctive local touches to create inspired, memorable spaces.
